

Abstract

This invention relates to pharmaceuticals for neuropathic pains comprising an mGluR1 receptor antagonist for systemic administration. Drugs efficacious in treating 5 various neuropathic pain can be provided by the invention.